What Was Accomplished in Washington Yesterday.

A HOT DEBATE IN THE SENATE.

Paragraphs in the President's Message Discussed Relating to the Federal Control of Elections—The World's Fair Committee Appointed in the House. Other Washington Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The feature of yesterday's senate was the speeches and political debate of Senators Pasco and Chandler on the paragraph in the president's message respecting Federal control of elections.

After routine business, the introduction of bills, and favorable reports from committees on bills providing for the admission of Wyoming and for a temporary form of government for Oklahoma, Mr. Pasco addressed the senate on the subject of Federal control of elections. Reconstruction measures and the work of army officers, freedmen's bureau agents, camp followers and stragglers, he said, were efforts of the Republican party to build up a southern "annex" to their party and thus prolong its lease of power. It had turned out to be a rope of sand, and now the attempt was to be made to seize the electoral machinery of the states.

The message of the president, he said, had contained no syllable in favor of free and honest elections, except as to the suppression of the votes of colored people at the south. There was no evidence before the country of any such suppression. None had been communicated to congress. It was simply a matter of inference. He presented some election statistics from eastern, western and southern states, to prove that "the silent voter is increasing in every section of the country."

In conclusion, he stated that his voice and vote would be given in favor of standing by the methods of election which had come down from the days of Washington and Jefferson.

Mr. Chandler followed Mr. Pasco. That senator, said he, had complained of the character of some citizens of the south who had come north as witnesses concerning political outrages in that section, and had also had something to say about the silent voter. There was one citizen of Florida, said Mr. Chandler, who will not come north to testify concerning political outrages, and who might be termed a "silent voter." That man was John Burr, a colored citizen of Madison county, Fla., who, in October last, having been to Jacksonville as a witness concerning political outrages, was killed on his return to Madison county by the Democrats of that county, on account of the testimony which he had given.

Mr. Chandler also referred to the driving by masked Democrats from his home in Jefferson county, Fla., of J. G. Cole, because he was a prominent Republican; and he read extracts on the subject of that outrage from articles in The New York Tribune, The Monticello, Fla., Constitution, The Gainesville, Fla., Advocate and The Milwaukee Sentinel. He hoped the senator, Mr. Pasco, would inform the senate whether he did not consider such transactions as these reasons why it would be wise and judicious for the government of the United States, to pass some law for the protection of Republican voters and for fair elections in the south for representatives in congress. He also reminded Mr. Pasco of other political murders and outrages in Florida, going as far back as 1881. If there was any one state that needed the benefit of a Federal election law, in connection with congressional elections, it was the state of Florida. He submitted to the senator (Pasco) whether he had not better, under the circumstances, waive his objection to National interference in elections, and to the passage of a National election law that would at least, secure elections in Florida that would be, for once in the history of that state, both honest and peaceful.

Mr. Pasco, in a rejoinder, said he would not follow Senator Chandler through his ramblings from his scrap book, but he expressed the belief that the elections in Florida, ever since the memorable one of 1876, were as fair, as peaceful, and as quiet as they were in New England. It was not surprising that there were some irregularities there because the senator, Mr. Chandler, had been one of the principal agents in the Florida election fraud in 1876, and the demoralization resulting from that had not entirely disappeared.

The allusion to his course in Florida in 1876 brought Mr. Chandler to his feet again, and he denied the charge that he had then approached the chairman of the state canvassing board, and had promised that if the state was canvassed for Hayes the majority of the returning board would be taken care of. He denied that statement absolutely, and declared that the friends of Mr. Hayes had resorted to no extraordinary means on that occasion. Mr. Pasco said that the charge had been often made and printed and that this was the first it had been denied.

Mr. Ingalls said that it had been his purpose to address the senate to-morrow on the general subject discussed by the senators from Alabama (Morgan), South Carolina (Butler) and Florida (Pasco); but he was suffering from the consequences of the prevailing malarial to such extent that he should be unable to do so. He gave notice, however, that on Thursday at 2 o'clock he would move the consideration of Mr. Butler's bill, for the purpose of making some observations thereon.

The senate then proceeded to the consideration of executive business, and at 4 p. m. adjourned.

Proceedings of the House.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—In the house yesterday the speaker announced the appointment of the world's fair committee as follows: Messrs. Chandler of Massachusetts, Hitt of Illinois, Bowden of Virginia, Selden of New York, Frank of Missouri, Springer of Illinois, Hatch of Missouri, Wilson of West Virginia, and Flower of New York.

Mr. Oates, of Alabama, and Stone, of Kentucky, offered resolutions to reimburse members for their losses by the Silcott embezzlement. Both resolutions were referred to the Silcott committee.

Mr. Springer, of Illinois, offered a resolution providing that the house decide on Thursday next the question of location of the world's fair, and the place having been decided, the special committee to report a bill locating the fair at the place selected. Referred to the special committee.

The house then went into committee of the whole on the Oklahoma town site bill. After making some progress with the bill the committee rose and the house at 5 p. m. adjourned.

New House Bills.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The following were among the bills introduced in the house yesterday:

By Mr. Lawlor, making the 8th of January a National holiday, in commemoration of the life and character of Andrew Jackson.

By Mr. Goodnight, placing salt and tinned plate on the free list.

By Mr. Shively, to amend the act to prohibit the importation and immigration of foreigners and aliens under contract or agreement to perform labor.

By Mr. Hulve, a joint resolution proposing to amend the constitution of the United States by providing for the election of senators by the legal voters of the states.

By Mr. Conger, Secretary Windom's silver bill.

By Mr. Kelley, of Kansas, appropriating $100,000 for a monument to the negro soldiers and sailors who gave their lives for the protection of the United States in the late war.

By Mr. McComas, of Maryland, and Mr. Wilson, of West Virginia, respectively, the two bills heretofore introduced in the senate to provide for holding the world's fair in Washington.

By Mr. Morrow, to entirely prohibit the coming of Chinese persons into the United States.

By Mr. Cowles, to repeal the tax on tobacco in all its forms.

Mr. Randall Joins Church.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The stories that Hon. Samuel J. Randall's health is growing worse and that his condition has become critical are revived by the announcement that he was admitted to the Metropolitan Presbyterian church Sunday, Mr. Custer, who was called in last Tuesday by Mrs. Randall, baptized the ex-speaker and admitted him to the fellowship of the church. The fact was announced from the pulpit Sunday. It is still claimed by Mr. Randall's family that his health is improving.

Private Funeral Services.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Private funeral services over the remains of Solicitor General Chapman were held at his late residence at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The president, vice president, cabinet officers and other intimate friends were present. Attorney General Miller, Secretary Tracy, J. C. Bancroft Davis and Judge Schoonmaker, of the interstate commerce commission, were pallbearers. Yesterday evening Judge Chapman's remains were taken to Binghamton, N. Y., for interment.

LABOR TROUBLES.

Twelve Hundred Malters Locked Out at Danbury, Conn.—Other Strikes.

DANBURY, Conn., Jan. 21.—All the finishers in fourteen of the sixteen shops here, numbering 1,200 men, will be locked out by order of the Hat Manufacturers' association. The difficulty is of nine months' standing, and grows out of the employment of three boys in the finishing department of C. H. Merritt's shop. There is a dispute as to whether these boys are on finishing work or not.

There is an old agreement between the employers and men that such dispute must be decided by a committee. The manufacturers claim that this agreement was violated by a summary calling out of Merritt's men Saturday night, consequently all the manufacturers will stand together in refusing to treat with the finishers until the men in Merritt's shop return to work unconditionally.

Shoemakers Return to Work.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Jan. 21.—Three thousand shoemakers who have been locked out for a week returned to work yesterday, and the labor difficulties have been settled to the entire satisfaction of both the employers and employees. The manufacturers have plenty of work and find it difficult to secure enough help to turn off the goods fast enough to fill the orders.

Weavers Go Out.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Jan. 21.—Forty weavers employed at the new Norden mill struck work yesterday, and allege that they are receiving insufficient wages for the class of goods woven. All but four of the weavers employed left the mill.

NEGRO EMIGRATION.

It is Said Politicians are the Only Ones Who Favor It.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—A New York newspaper recently instructed its correspondent in South Carolina and Alabama to obtain the views of leading merchants, planters, clergymen and other representative men on the question of sending the negroes to Africa, as proposed by Senators Morgan and Butler.

The replies indicate a nearly unanimous conviction that the south cannot get along without negro labor. Cotton cannot be raised without their help, and the farmers are opposed to any deportation scheme. The politicians, however, favor the proposed measure, many of them advocating compulsory emigration, if necessary.

Serious Blockade.

Unprecedented Snow Storms in the Northwest.

SIXTY FEET DEEP IN PLACES.

Trains and Hundreds of Passengers Stalled in Snow Banks—Snow Plows Make Almost No Headway, Even when Pushed by a Dozen Pulling, Steam Locomotives.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 21.—The snow blockade on all roads in this part of the country continues. No trains have left Ogden, on the Central Pacific, since Thursday, or the Oregon Short Line for six days. Twenty-seven relief engines were sent out from stations on the Central Pacific yesterday, and are stuck in drift, as are also several of the patent snow plows.

The Central Pacific has ordered one of the big screw snow-plows from the east, and even it is side-tracked at Sherman. Word came last night that there was no assurance of getting this plow before June.

A special from Reno says the storm ended there last night, and that stockmen say half the cattle and sheep in the state will perish. Sparks and Fernin, in southern Idaho, have lost 3,000 head of cattle.

Reports from the Quinn river section of Idaho says all stock there will die.

A train that left here for San Francisco Friday went out to Reno, and returned last night. The trainmen report snow in canons in Nevada from thirty to sixty feet deep. Stockmen in that country say four-fifths of the stock has or will perish. No such storm has been known since the first white man penetrated these mountains. George Grayson, a wealthy stock man of Nevada, is feeding twenty tons of hay daily, and says he will lose a 1,000 fed cattle and all on the outside.

Trains and westbound passengers are side-tracked at Baker City, on the Oregon Short Line, awaiting the opening of the blockade. They have now been accumulating for six days. It is thought the blockade will be raised soon. The passengers are getting anxious, and accommodations are poor. Several snow plows are at work from both ends of the blockade.

It is reported that a terrible snow-slide occurred at Red Jack mountain, Cornucopia, Saturday, destroying buildings and the tramway at the mines. No lives were lost.

Five engines undertook to work their way to Reno, but were only able to go one mile, when they stopped for ten hours in a drift. Five engines were sent out to help them, but they were doomed to the same fate. After shoveling snow for several hours, they were able to back up to Truckee. West of Truckee matters are even worse. Passengers are held in Blue Canyon. A snow plow pushed by five engines has been thirty-six hours tunneling about six miles from Truckee. Provisions to the trainmen stuck in the drifts and cut off, and are being carried to them on snow-shoes, after being taken by a snow-plow west from Truckee as far as possible. Twelve engines and a snow-plow were only able to go two miles, and then stuck fast in the snow, which seemed to roll back upon them, although the rotary plows threw snow thirty feet.

Eastern people on their way to California are now at Truckee enjoying California climate with a vengeance. Snow sheds are breaking down, rendering it dangerous to use the snow plows, so that the shovels must do the work. Eleven hundred men reinforced the gang in Blue Canyon yesterday. On all blocked lines passengers are being cared for at the expense of the railroad companies.

Telegraph lines in some places are entirely buried under the drifts, notwithstanding the fact that the wires are strung on poles thirty-five feet high. A report that the snowbound passengers are suffering for want of food is denied by the railroad officials. Abundance of food is supplied them, and the trains are at no point where it would be impossible to reach them.

Experienced men on snow shoes are constantly on the road between Colfax and the delayed trains packing fresh beef and other necessities, and at no time during the blockade has any difficulty been experienced in giving the passengers comforts and food.

The passengers are not suffering from cold. A large number of cases of influenza are reported, but the sufferers are kept warm and receive medical aid promptly.

In the Far West.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—The snow blockade on the Central Pacific railway in the vicinity of Truckee and Emigrant Gap has become very serious. Since Tuesday last no eastern overland trains have been able to reach a point further west than Colfax. All of the eastbound trains are at Sacramento, Colfax and Shady Run, while those coming west are at Emigrant Gap, Truckee and Reno. At Truckee the depth of the snow varies from eight to twenty feet. Snow plows pushed by ten or twelve locomotives are reported stuck fast in the drifts. Snow is still falling, and places on the road which have been cleared by the plows are rapidly filling up again.

The passengers of the blocked trains are comfortably quartered at hotels by the company. Some cases of influenza are reported among the passengers, and the company has provided the sufferers with medical attention. The railroad officials declare that the blockade is the heaviest and longest they have experienced for over ten years. No mails have reached this city from the east since last Tuesday. Telegraph wires are entirely buried by the snow in some places.

MINERS' CONVENTION.

District 10, Progressive Union, Favorable to One Open Organization.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 21.—The annual convention of District No. 10, of the National Progressive Union of Miners, commenced here yesterday. President Chris. Evans in the chair.

President Evans read his annual address. It favors one open organization for the miners of America; is heartily in favor of supporting the proposition made to create a defense fund, to be used in strikes; favors eight hours a day's labor; restriction of the daily output of mines, and suspension at stated intervals as one of the methods that will give relief.

The address was accepted unanimously and ordered distributed among the delegates, the subjects to be handled by different committees.

Secretary-Treasurer Lewis' annual report was read, and showed the following: Cash on hand Jan. 18, 1889, $1,635.17; total receipts during the year, $9,479.98; total expenditures, $5,522.85; amount on hand, $857.13. The sum of $118.54 was paid out to strikes during the year. The expenditures include, among other things, the salaries of officers and their expenses.

The roll was called and each delegate called upon for a five-minute speech to describe the situation in the districts represented. There were forty delegates present, and the general sentiment seemed to be in favor of one open organization and an eight-hour day. Most of them favored a defense fund, and opinions were divided on the subject of a suspension of work at stated intervals. A few of the delegates said they were instructed to vote for a defense fund if there was one organization. There are quite a number of subjects for discussion during the session.

The National Progressive union and the National District Assembly, 135, Knights of Labor, will meet in convention on Wednesday, the 22d instant, the former at the Harugari hall and the latter at the city hall. These two organizations will take action on the proposed amalgamation and select a time and place for holding the joint session.

There seems to be but little doubt among the National Progressive union and the Knights of Labor people but what the amalgamation will be made, as both are in favor of it, and consider that the joining of their forces would benefit their interests in the United States.

WYOMING ROAD AGENTS.

A Mail Coach Robbed of Eight Hundred Dollars.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 21.—The stage route between Dixon and Rollins, Wyo. T., passes through several miles of desolate country. A few days ago, as the coach was passing a point fourteen miles distant from Bagges, two men with leather masks hiding their features stepped into the highway, and, with drawn Winchester, commanded the driver to turn over to them the mail sacks in his possession.

Fearing his life would be taken unless he obeyed, the mail was placed in the robbers' who cut open the sacks and rifled the letters of $800, of which sum $455 was in checks, and the remainder in currency and specie. They then completed their depredations by destroying all the ordinary mail matter. The passengers in the coach were not molested, the highwaymen evidently being satisfied with the good haul they made from the government.

UTILIZING COAL DUST.

An English Syndicate Mixing It With Pitch and Making It Combustible.

MAHONNY CITY, Pa., Jan. 21.—An English syndicate has purchased from the Reading Railroad company the plant for the manufacture of the patent coal dust brick, located near this city. The contract also stipulates that the company is to furnish the new owners all the coal dust it wants at the rate of twenty-five cents per ton, and in turn secure the monopoly of transporting the product, raw and manufactured, over the Reading tracks. The Reading company originally bought the patent with the intention of carrying on the business, but as it could not realize a handsome profit, it sold out. The process of manufacture consists of mixing the coal dust with pitch, and then compressing the mixture into bricks eighteen inches long, six inches wide and the same size in thickness, to weigh about fifteen pounds.

Cause of the Boston Fire.

BOSTON, Jan. 21.—Fire Marshal Whitcomb, in his report on the Thanksgiving day fire, admits the possibility of deciding beyond a doubt the origin of the fire, but says: "I must still yield to the irresistible conclusion that the fire was in some way caused by the ignition of the relay in the office of the Electric Time company, probably owing to contact with a high tension wire." The marshal urges the need of municipal control of wires, and better building laws.

Convict Killed by Guards.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 21.—Dick Gardner, a white convict employed on the canal here, made a break for liberty Saturday morning with another white convict, William Jackson. The guards fired upon them, and Gardner fell, pierced through the heart with a rifle ball. The other fugitive escaped. Gardner, who was serving a ten-years' sentence, was a celebrated horse thief, and had become a terror to North and South Carolina by frequent depredations.

An Incident in Lewis County.

A little Newport girl, seeing the pictures of the five Brice children in the Enquirer, asked, "Wuz they lected too, Mama?"—Kentucky State Journal.

This reminds us of a little incidence that occurred up in Lewis County, this State, many years ago. A sturdy old farmer over on Big Cabin Creek was making the race for Sheriff. He came home from a hard day's canvass, and soon after supper retired. He told his wife that Conrod Cable, of Bear Pen, and that Fletch Betcket and Bill Handy Harrison, of Little Cabin, would support him, and how he stood with the Fitches and Ruggles, when little John Thomas, over in the trundle bed, became enthusiastic, and clapping his hands said, "O, we'll all be Sheriff, we'll all be Sheriff." "Shet your mouth," retorted the old lady, "nobody will be Sheriff but your pap and me."—Lexington Observer.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Notes and Comments by County Superintendent Galbraith for Year 1889-90.

No. 51—SUMMIT.

Pupils on roll, 36; pupils present, 19. The trustees are C. H. Tucker, Wilson Case and David White. The house presents a woebegone appearance. There it stands, with all its age upon it, and no disguise of paint to make it look the newer. But for the path, one would suppose the house abandoned. The furniture is in keeping with the house. This should be replaced with a new house, and then we may expect a marked improvement in the school.

This school is taught by W. G. Senleney. The discipline of the school is good, and the classes did well as far as examined.

No. 20—MONTJOY.

Roll, 29; present, 24. The trustees are John S. Wel s, John Bradley and John Holliday. The school is taught by C. D. Wells, and was found to be in good working order and moving on bravely. There was a marked spirit of individual enterprise among the pupils. This to my mind is the very best result; and I am anxious for our other teachers to acquire this tact of inspiring each pupil. Their work should be directed more to this and less to mere class instruction. The discipline was first class.

No. 36—BULL CREEK.

Roll, 41; present, 31. The trustees are N. Ryan, D. C. Yazel and W. N. Gilmes. I was glad to note a number of new desks.

The school is taught by M. A. Ruggles, a wide-awake teacher, who is securing excellent results from his pupils. He reports favorably as to the use of the monthly reports, and is doing well with the written work. The classes acquitted themselves well, especially some members of the history class. I was especially pleased with Willie Hicks' progress in this branch. History is one of the best test studies. The real student will find out something of it in a comprehensive way, while the drone may answer questions, but without any understanding of their value. The school is in good working order, and doing well.

No. 37—PLEASANT RIDGE OR CABIN CREEK.

Roll, 47; present, 46. This school is taught in a log house, which is comfortable, but for the seats—they are without desks.

I found the school under the management of J. W. Haystip, doing well. The pupils were earnestly engaged in their studies. I was especially pleased with the arithmetic. They showed a knowledge of the subject and not simply of the book. Their responses were not book answers, but drawn from their application of what they knew of the subject. The pupils are doing as well in the written work as it is possible, without desks. The whole school presented the very best order and interest in the work.

The trustees, J. W. Tully, C. P. Vawters and C. M. Redmond, have been attentive, save as to the one item of providing desks. I could not but think of the value of a little outlay for these. It would be worth the cost in one term.

It Pays to Advertise.

The W. L. Douglas shoe advertisement has occupied a prominent place in the newspapers for many years. It has been seen far and near, appearing in at least one paper in nearly every city of any importance in the land. It didn't appear for a time and then disappear, but ran right along, continuously keeping before the public the "Douglas $3 shoe."

Mr. Douglas started his shoe factory in 1874, at Brocton, Mass. He commenced with a capital of $865. He is now doing a business of $1,000,000 a year. He is paying $70,000 a year for advertising, and his wonderful success in business is due more to the judicious and liberal use of printer's ink than to any other one thing.

Does it pay to advertise? Ask Mr. Douglas and he will give you an emphatic answer, and that answer will be: "Yes, it does."

Portugal's Scheme.

Her Dispute With England
Rapidly Increasing.

THE ENGLISH ARE BOYCOTTED.

Those Employed by Portuguese Must Swear Allegiance to the King of Portugal or Be Discharged—A Spanish Cabinet
Formed—Other Foreign News of Interest.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The complications arising from the dispute between England and Portugal are rapidly increasing. In addition to the now formidable boycott of England and Englishmen in the cities and towns of Portugal, a large number of English employes of Portuguese merchants, manufacturers, etc., have been forced to become naturalized subjects of the King of Portugal or suffer dismissal from their situation.

In these cases no middle course is possible. Every Englishman employed by a Portuguese must forthwith sacrifice his means of obtaining a livelihood or forswear his allegiance to his sovereign. In sheer desperation a great many Englishmen are accepting the alternative in order to keep their positions, but the virtue of these new recruits to the Lisbon government is questionable.

The resignation of the aggressive governor of Mozambique, Barreto Enorenia, will, it is believed, greatly assist in bringing about a reconciliation between the disputing nations, since it is understood that it was through his excess of zeal and misconception of instructions that the hostile acts of the Portuguese southeast Africa were allowed to go as far as they did.

Spain's New Cabinet.

MADRID, Jan. 21.—Senor Sagasta has succeeded in forming a new cabinet as follows: Senor Equitator is minister of finance; Pungerruer, minister of justice; Bourra, minister of commerce; Gen. Bernudez Reira, minister of war; Admiral Romero, minister of marine; and Senor Gullon, minister of colonies. The other departments are unchanged from the former ministry.

All of the new ministers are free traders. Senor Sagasta wished to secure the co-operation of the protective Liberals, several of whom he asked to join the cabinet, but he was unable to assent to their demands. The policy of the last ministry will be pursued.

Wants to Make Our Guns.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—It is stated upon good authority that the firm of Armstrong's gun makers, intend to establish an immense ship yard in the United States and bid, through Americans interested in the enterprise, for the construction of the ironclad vessels which it is proposed to build for the United States navy. The claim is made by the Armstrongs that they can profitably compete with the American ship builders on their own ground and easily command the American influence necessary to secure contracts.

Stanley Banquetted at Cairo.

CAIRO, Jan. 21.—Stanley was entertained at a banquet last night, over which Riaz Pasha presided. A number of Europeans were present, including Mr. Joseph Chamberlain. Riaz Pasha, in preparing a toast to Stanley, took occasion to eulogize Emin. Stanley, replying, recounted the main points of his journey and dwelt upon Emin's vacillation. Emin, he said, had been offered the government of a province. Stanley thanked his entertainers for the honor conferred on himself and companions.

Eight Hour Law in England.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Mr. R. Cunningham Graham, Liberal member of parliament for the northwest division of Lanarkshire, has announced his intention to introduce an eight hour bill, immediately after the reassembling of parliament, which shall apply to all persons engaged in mining in the United Kingdom.

ON THE WEST VIRGINIA BORDER.

Reports of a Horrible Outrage on the Big Sandy River.

CATLETTSBURG, Ky., Jan. 21.—Details of a shocking outrage perpetrated Sunday night on the West Virginia side of the Big Sandy river, ten miles above this city, have just been received here. S. S. Bromfield, a well known timberman of this section, was the bearer of the news, which indicates that R. M. Long, a Guyandotte county constable, was foully murdered and his wife desperately wounded.

Bromfield was riding in the vicinity of the victim's residence late Sunday night, when he heard the reports of firearms and a woman's screams for help. Riding hastily to the scene he discovered a horrible condition of things.

The front door had been broken in with a timber used as a battering-ram, and on the bed, weltering in their life's blood, Long and wife. The former's body was riddled with bullets, and life was extinct; the latter had a ghastly wound in the face, from which she was rendered unconscious.

When the injured woman recovered sufficiently to understand the situation, an effort was made to ascertain the authors of the murderous work. She was unable to talk, owing to injuries, but wrote on a slip of paper that the house was filled with a crowd of men before she was aware of it, the door being broken in, and while she and her husband were in bed they were fired on. She recognized none of them.

As the furniture was not disturbed, and the wife could give no solution of the mystery, friends of the murdered man believe that a gang of desperadoes, against whom he held warrants for "moonshining," committed the awful deed. Others believe it is merely a continuation of the Hatfield-McCoy feud, as the victim is related to the former family. The wounds of the woman are believed to be fatal.

Recitation of a chess in natural history. The professor is nettled at the inattention of his pupils, and exclaims:

"Gentlemen, I demand your attention. I am giving you an interesting lecture on the personal peculiarities of the monkey. The least you can do is to look at me."

"Is marriage a failure?" asked the elderly Spilkens of a fo r f l me, who had been a party to a May and December marriage.

"No," she replied, with a glance toward her husband in the next room. "Not a failure. Only a temporary embarrassment."

Mrs. Billus (pounding on a locked door of inner room)—"For mercy's sake, John, what are you making all that noise about? Are you going crazy?"

"Frenzied voice of John Billus (on the inside)—"Keep away, Maria! Keep away, or I won't be responsible for the consequences! I'm using that Christmas razor you gave me."

Mrs. Bandbox—"You said the train I should take leaves at 10:30, didn't you?"

"Ticket Agent—Yes, madam, and I think I've told you that about ten times already."

"Yes, I know you have, but my little boy says he likes to hear you talk."

Locomotives vs Storms.

A correspondent of the Northwestern Railroad advances some odd theories to account for the frequency and severity of storms in modern times. He gives the figures to prove that there are now over 30,000 locomotives in actual use in the United States, besides the hundreds of thousands of stationary engines of all kinds and sizes. From a round 30,000 of locomotives he estimates as much as 53,000,000,000 cubic yards of vapor each week, over 7,000,000,000 cubic yards a day, all to be returned as rain—"quite enough," he says, "to produce a good rain-storm every twenty-four hours." He estimates other engines of all kinds at 180,000, probably a very low estimate, and concludes that these, with the locomotives, send about 470,000,000,000 yards of vapor into the air every seven days. "Is it not enough," he asks, "to give us floods of terror?" Hundreds of gas wells sending their poison into the atmosphere; millions of cesspools and sewers. Would it be any wonder if some blighting plague would lay waste the land?
